OUTSIDE.

Information Guide

October 19-23, 2026

Celebrating outdoor learning.

Take learning beyond the four walls of the classroom.

Take Me Outside Day is Canada's national celebration of outdoor learning, bringing together educators, learners, schools, organizations, families, and communities from across Canada and around the world to celebrate and expand learning beyond the four walls of the classroom.

While Take Me Outside Day takes place on Wednesday, October 21, 2026, it is part of Take Me Outside Week (October 19–23), a collaborative celebration of outdoor learning that brings together educators, learners, schools, organizations, and partners from across Canada and around the world.

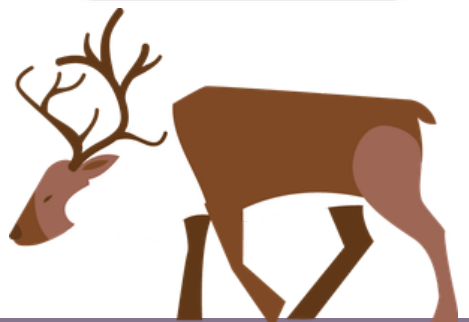

Throughout the week, participants can engage in live virtual speakers, virtual field trips, curriculum-connected outdoor learning activities, and educational resources. At the heart of the celebration, everyone is encouraged to spend at least one hour learning outdoors.

Take Me Outside Day traces its roots back to 2011, when educator and outdoor learning advocate Colin Harris ran more than 7,600 kilometres across Canada, inspiring thousands of young people to reconnect with the outdoors. Today, the campaign engages hundreds of thousands of educators and learners each year through the collective efforts of schools, organizations, and partners.

Who Can Participate?

- Kindergarten-Grade 12 educators

HOPE GROWS OUTSIDE.

This year's campaign theme celebrates the incredible opportunities that outdoor learning creates for learners of all ages.

When we learn outdoors, we nurture curiosity, strengthen connections with nature and community, support health and wellbeing, and inspire hope for the future.

Whether it's one lesson outside or an entire week of learning, every outdoor experience helps learners discover that learning can happen anywhere.

Explore the Week

Monday, October 19

Begin the week by learning from Indigenous voices and exploring relationships with the land, place-based learning, and ways of knowing that deepen our understanding of the world around us.

Tuesday, October 20

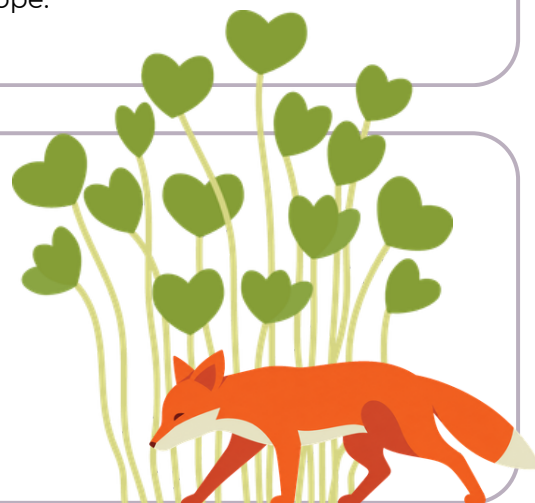

Explore the natural world through inquiry, environmental stewardship, and climate education that empowers learners with knowledge, action, and hope.

Wednesday, October 21

The heart of Take Me Outside Week! Join educators and learners across Canada by spending at least one hour learning outdoors and celebrating the many benefits of outdoor learning.
